With your effort and our help, you will improve your knowledge and skills in order to be able to develop your career in international environments, fully confident of success.

ESCP Europe

welcome

Prof. Dr. Frank Bournois
Dean of ESCP Europe

Founded in 1819, ESCP Europe is the world’s oldest business school. Its mission is to educate the next generation of transnational business leaders in order that they make the most of the opportunities offered by cultural diversity. With its six urban campuses in Berlin, London, Madrid, Paris, Turin and Warsaw, ESCP Europe has a truly European identity which allows it to impart a unique style of intercultural business education, and a global perspective on international management.

Through a combination of innovative educational techniques, multi-campus programmes, and an active-research faculty, ESCP Europe is an essential collaborator in the development of the culture of transnational management, which is so essential in today’s global business environment. ESCP Europe’s network of almost 130 partner universities extends the school’s scope from European to global. With the triple crown of accreditations (EQUIS, AMBA, AACSB), ESCP Europe welcomes 5,000+ students and 5,000 executives from 90 different countries each year, offering a wide range of programmes, both in general direction and in specialisations (Masters, MBA, Doctorate, and Executive Education).

The School’s strong network of alumni has 55,000 members of 150 nationalities. In addition to its vast relationships with national and multinational businesses, this network allows ESCP Europe to offer unique professional opportunities at an international level. ESCP Europe’s aspiration is the creed of Europe: stay faithful to its humanist values and, at the same time, anticipate new global trends.

ESCP Europe, the only truly pan-European business school, has launched its new “Cultures for Business”, or “C4B” strategy, which is designed to develop a new generation of international and transnational business leaders who can understand and make the most of the opportunities offered by cultural diversity.

Before knowing ESCP Europe, I was looking for a course that could offer me a broader business knowledge and give me flexibility to study anywhere in the world with internet connection. I spent a long time searching for several courses, until one caught my attention, surprising me with its antiquity. The ESCP Europe is the first business school in the world, and it made me start to think about the quantity and quality of experience and knowledge it has. I may say that the EMIB far exceeded all my expectations. The course is didactic, practical and has great teachings. The teachers have high qualifications and the study material has excellent content. Although the online course is flexible, it requires a lot of discipline and determination from the student, which demonstrates that the course is for those who want to study with quality and explore their ability to acquire new knowledge by themselves.

The first thing that caught my attention was the reputation of the School, second was the fact that a school like this teaches a Master 100% online. I wanted to study in an international environment and in a recognized school, so ESCP Europe was my choice. I don’t regret a thing, I can study anywhere, any time, the teachers are great, the staff is always looking after you and ready to assist you. Although I have found some courses challenging, I am learning a lot thanks to the teaching method they use. So far, my experience with the EMIB has exceeded my expectations.

Fernando Flores Redondo • Spanish
Senior Software Engineer, Project & Program Manager
Axwave Inc, USA
I have a technical background (Telecommunications Engineer) and recently have moved to the business development side of the startup I work for, so I started looking for a program that could narrow the eternal gap between technology and business knowledge. But there was a big constraint: in the last few years, I have lived in 3 different countries (and timezones), and because of the unpredictability that comes along with the startup experience, who knew where I was going to be living or working in the next month, semester or year. So the ESCP EMIB turned out to fit my needs perfectly: prestigious business school, online classes, and the possibility to take the exams remotely or in campus; it was a no-brainer, so I visited the Madrid campus, met the Programme Officer and enrolled.
And now that I’m part of the program, I can’t be happier with it. It has a full practical approach, all the professors (seasoned professionals in different sectors) use real-life business cases instead of boring theory. Assignments have to be delivered every two weeks in most of the cases, so the learning process is really incremental and enables engagement from the very first days of the program.
The programme gives a full view of the business cycle (operations, sales, human resources etc) with a special focus on internationalization issues. The content is pretty close to what an MBA offers, for a fraction of the cost and with way more flexibility. I encourage you to join or reach out to me if you need more information.
